

British Food Fortnight celebrated its' tenth year during Harvest Festival, the traditional time for celebrating food and the diverse and delicious range of food that Britain produces.

As part of the celebration Purbeck Ice Cream invited local school children to take part in a competition, to colour, crayon, paint, glue, stick and generally enhance an image designed by Shelley and artistically arranged by Yve (both from the Purbeck Ice Cream team) of cows enjoying Purbeck Ice Cream whilst relaxing in deckchairs beneath Corfe Castle!

A flood of beautifully coloured in, decorated, enhanced and dazzling artistic master pieces started arriving at the Purbeck Ice Cream HQ showing that raw talent, flair and imagination is rife amongst the children (and a fair few adults) of Purbeck.

The competition was based on age groups of up to 4 years, 5 years, 6 years and 7-8 year olds and judging commenced with fierce debates amongst the team over the entries received.

The winners have now been identified and the winning children plus all their class mates and teachers were delivered a free tub of Purbeck Ice Cream on Monday 31st October. The tubs were delivered by Sales Director Patrick Ward and Customer Manager Yve Crewes who organised the competition, both dressed appropriately in giant Purbeck tubs!

The winners are:

Age 4 years and under: Amy Lee Jefferis (Age 2) Langton Pre-School

Age 5 years: Harry Dymond – Lady St. Mary First School, Wareham

Age 6 years: Keira O'Connor – St. George's First School

Age 7 years: Amelia Seaman – St. Mary's First School, Swanage

A selection of the children's artwork

